

THERE'S ONLY One PARIS

Tales from our Times

“There’s only one Paris, and however hard living here may be, and if it became worse and even harder, [the city does] a world of good.” —Vincent van Gogh

In the midst of a global pandemic, the artist’s words resonate more than ever. Through a series of interconnected stories, we journey to Paris for a glimpse at how the city and its residents are adapting to the “new normal.” As we traverse Paris’s 20 arrondissements, we encounter an eclectic cast of characters who must confront a range of new challenges and emotions provoked by the Covid-19 outbreak. By daring to overcome anxiety, loneliness and stubbornness, they find courage, love and — most importantly — hope, exactly what we need in these uncertain times. In the face of adversity, the City of Light always sparkles — and proves it does a world of good.
